

Gude Drive Complex - Project Fact Sheet

600 East Gude Drive, Rockville, MD 20850

A collaborative public-private partnership to improve housing facilities and supportive services to homeless men in Montgomery County, Maryland

About Montgomery County's Homeless:

On any given day in our community, there are over 1100 people experiencing homelessness, including 500 single adult men. Seventy-two percent (72%) of homeless adults in Montgomery County have at least one disability (e.g. mental illness, substance abuse, development disability, chronic health condition). Twenty-six percent (26%) of homeless adults in Montgomery County work but cannot afford housing.¹

Programs for the Homeless at the Gude Drive Complex:

1. Adrienne's Safe Havens - Montgomery County Coalition for the Homeless (MCCH) is a low-demand transitional housing program for 15 homeless men with serious mental illness who are generally not successful in other shelter and group living environments. Safe Havens provides a comfortable and non-threatening environment that offers case management and counseling, life skills training, weekly on-site psychiatric services, and connection to medical care, vocational training, day treatment programs and other appropriate community resources. This MCCH program has been at Gude Drive since 1996. The ultimate goal of the program is to help clients transition to a more independent, permanent, and healthy living situation.
2. Chase Partnership House - Community Ministries of Rockville provides transitional housing services for 36 homeless men in recovery who have disabilities, including mental illnesses and substance abuse. The program helps the men progress through individual treatment programs and into mainstream society and has been in operation since 1987. Along with basic residential services, each resident receives intensive case management services and participates in a rehabilitative program which consists of intense day treatment, 12-step meetings, life skills groups, dual diagnosis education groups, and relapse prevention groups. A computer lab helps clients with GED preparation, employment preparation, and resume writing. Chase also includes seasonal therapeutic recreation programs designed to help clients manage the various stressors of life while improving their general health.

3. Men's Emergency Shelter - MCCH provides 24 hours a day, 7 days a week shelter for men experiencing homelessness. The shelter serves approximately 850 men over the course of a year. Emergency shelter for homeless men has been provided at Gude Drive since the early 1990s. Shelter residents have access to basic amenities such as showers, beds, laundry and dining facilities. The shelter also offers a variety of supportive services to help shelter residents exit homelessness more quickly, including: thorough assessments, case management, vocational counseling and job training, health education classes, in-house 12-step meetings, and mobile medical services.

About the Improvement Project:

- Addition to the Men's Emergency Shelter (3,780 sq. ft. addition to existing 5,800 sq. ft building) Since the building's original construction by Home Builders Care Foundation eight years ago, demand for shelter and comprehensive services for homeless individuals has increased dramatically. The capacity of the existing building is 100 men. An additional 35 men have been served by an on-site trailer. The addition will primarily be used to provide a range of new on-site services including new laundry, bathroom and shower facilities, two medical exam rooms, and a meeting space and computer lab for educational and vocational activities to be conducted for men in the shelter. The 35 bed trailer onsite has been closed, and those 35 beds will also be in the new addition. Winchester Homes is leading construction.
- New Shared Facilities Building (14,520 sq. ft.) A second new building is being constructed that will become home to Adrienne's Safe Havens, the Chase Partnership House, and offices for MCCH services and staff. Prior to new construction, housing and services for both programs were delivered in substandard buildings onsite. In addition to providing transitional shelter for 51 men, the new building will feature offices for staff, two dining rooms, two life skills kitchens, two computer labs, laundry and bathroom facilities, conference rooms, and lounges.
